What is common to Uber, Venmo, Square, Beyond Meat, Alibaba Cloud, Apple iPad, Nest, WeWork, Warby Parker, and Pinterest? They were all born in the two years following the 2008 Global Financial Crisis. In the same time period, China grew at 7%+ and India grew at 6%+. Crises and economic downturns are fertile grounds for creativity and innovation. Innovative firms and entrepreneurial leaders must be resourceful and change their competitive game in the market to not just survive but to thrive post-Covid-19.
