

Dr. Carlos A. Colón de Armas

Professor of Finance, University of Puerto Rico

EDUCATION

Ph.D. (1984), Krannert Graduate School of Management, Purdue University,
Finance Major, Econometrics Minor

B.B.A. (1978), University of Puerto Rico, Accounting Major

EXPERIENCE

Dr. Carlos A. Colón De Armas is a Professor of Finance at the Graduate School of Business of the University of Puerto Rico's main campus at Río Piedras. He is actively engaged in academic research and has authored several articles for academic journals.

Outside of academia, Dr. Colón De Armas serves as a Financial, Economics, and Management Consultant, is a licensed Real Estate Broker (Lic. #10213), and is a columnist for El Vocero, one of the largest circulation newspapers in Puerto Rico. His opinion columns also have appeared in El Nuevo Día and Caribbean Business.

Prior to occupying his current position, between 1999 and 2000, Dr. Colón De Armas was the Executive Vice President of the Government Development Bank for Puerto Rico. During the years 1993 to 1999, Dr. Colón De Armas served as the Deputy Executive Director of the Puerto Rico Highways and Transportation Authority.