

Chamber Recognizes Three Nigerian-Based Startups at U.S.-Nigeria Conference

Today, the Chamber’s U.S.-Africa Business Center (USAfBC) awarded Afrilearn International, Healthbotics Limited, and Tiny Hearts Technology with its inaugural Digital Innovation Awards for innovators that are positively impacting job creation and pandemic recovery in Nigerian society.

The winners were selected from 12 finalists after a virtual pitch competition as part of the USAfBC’s digital transformation event series.

Why it matters: Nigeria has one of the largest youth populations on the continent and has long been a thriving hub for entrepreneurship. “We see the critical role digital innovation plays in growing the West African economy and addressing current and future global challenges,” said Scott Eisner, President of the U.S. Chamber’s U.S.-Africa Business Center.

The event series convened the public and private sectors of both countries for a conversation about the need for a strong U.S.-Nigeria partnership to deliver a trusted, responsible, and inclusive digital economy.
