

Suzanne Clark: Who We Stand For And What We Fight For

In the midst of a great deal of uncertainty stemming from the ongoing pandemic, and upcoming elections, today U.S. Chamber President Suzanne Clark outlined the Chamber's current mission and focus.

She writes the Chamber stands for the American businesses that drive our economy; fights for their ability to hire, invest, grow, and succeed; and stands ready to work with the next Congress and White House on a number of priorities, including:

- Providing clarity and certainty for business growth through legal reform, corporate governance, a healthy regulatory environment, and smart rules for the modern economy.
- Strengthening the workforce by focusing on skills training and retraining, immigration reform, and K -12 and higher education.
- Building the modern infrastructure to support a growing economy and expand access to education and economic opportunities only possible through broadband.
- Growing our global engagement through robust trade, sustainable supply chains, and a level playing field for American businesses.
- Promoting business-led innovation to long-term challenges like climate change.
